

Last Minute Lover
Oshima Brothers

Five hours driving on a whim
Damn it I'm just dropping everything to see you
I left the laundry hanging on the line
Intensions out the window every time I need you

I been standing on the corner
Trying to think of something for you
I stole a flower growing next door
I hope you don't recognize the color
Last minute lover

You fill the calendar solid to the edge
Twenty-four seven you plan it all ahead for the next year
I been taking it one day at a time
Running on empty and running way behind
But at least I'm right here

I been standing on the corner
Trying to think of something for you
I stole a flower growing next door
I hope you don't recognize the color
Last minute lover

Not gonna be forever
That I'm a last minute lover
I believe I can show you
That I'll always be here for you

I been standing on the corner
Trying to think of something for you
I stole a flower growing next door
I hope you don't recognize the color
Last minute lover
